Dreams for the future, hopes, and plans of tomorrow, taking our fantasies and making them our realities. At Lincoln each of us is striving to reach the end of the rainbow—to find our own pot of gold—full of hopes and dreams.

times of the past . . .

Dreams we have reached and dreams we are still reaching for. At Lincoln we have been involved in a year of changes and shortages, gas shortages, paper shortages, higher prices, stocks dropping, lower employment rate, a mild recession, conviction of four government officials, and the first resignation of a United States president and vice-president.

Not only nation wide changes, but at Lincoln we too have been faced with the day-to-day hangups and changes of a growing high school: a stricter absence policy, confidentiality law, peer counseling, executive internship program, a new parking lot, proposals of additions to the building, more English electives for sophomores, new teachers, cadet teachers, foreign exchange students, change in coaching policies, proposals of busing, and winning state basketball tournament. Many of which were our dreams fulfilled and others our dreams falling short.

dreams for the future

We now must dream and hope for the future. To set traditions and new policies for the generations to come and dreams for the rest of our lives. Dreams of open campus, student lounges, smaller classes, more varied classes, student council enlarged, new sports programs, and overall student participation. Dreams of success, happiness, and wealth.

All of us waiting to be set free, to get out on our own, build a home, a life, to find and reach our goals and dreams. Each of us a little reluctant, a little fearful, a little disinclined, to leave behind us a part of us, a part of our lives.

Even though decisions were hard to settle upon, we have dreams for and from our times at Lincoln. Many of us hesitant to make our decisions because we realize the impact it will have on our future—on the rest of our lives.

Administrative woes— confidentiality, busing

The attendance policy was a predominant issue faced by the administration during the '74-'75 school year. The year was also marked by discussions on desegregation, building expansion and boundary changes. A ruling was enforced by the administration and the Police Department concerning the parking lot. The ruling, passed ten years ago, is being enforced because of the increasing amount of cars over the past decade.

The "Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974" was passed by the federal government in relation to students' records. The Act, better known as the Confidentiality Law, is being enforced at Lincoln by Mrs. Kathleen Shiffer, registrar.

Lincoln's Counseling Center, headed by Miss Alice Anderson, assisted students in course scheduling.

Library invokes study and research

"Our aim is to supplement and enrich the classroom, and with that in mind, we try to run a good library," commented librarian Helen Holt.

The library is the one room in the building that becomes science — math — home economics — art — English — foreign language — commercial — social science — industrial arts—music, as all of these classes use the library. After 14 years, the library is better than ever equipped to serve the needs of students with nearly 20,000 books and hundreds of current and back issues of magazines.

"Although more than 600 students use the library every day, we endeavor to have a person-to-person relationship with each one," expressed Lillian Cole, librarian.

Staff workers hold school together

The office staff keeps the school administration running smoothly and efficiently. Custodians keep Lincoln in tip top shape. The cafeteria help is responsible for serving the students and teachers grade A lunches which include regular lunch or ala carte.

Learning to understand the business world

This year the Business Education department opened new courses for sophomores only. These courses were set up for career exploration office education. The department also provided juniors and seniors with on-the-job training and for the college bound or vocational student. Out of several courses, the student has the choices of: Arithmetic, Business Law, Consumer Business, Data Processing, Notehand, Shorthand, and Typing. These courses help students prepare for future jobs and career ideas. Distributive Education (DECA) also gives the student an opportunity to work when released from school and to gain a credit. Sponsored by Dan Murray, the club members acquired job skills in actual work situations, working in grocery stores, gas stations, auto shops and other various businesses.

Jane Sayers the department head said, "Our main goal is to offer a variety of courses in order to meet the needs of all students no matter what they plan after graduation."

Production is our future business

The industrial arts program trains students in the skills of mechanical drawing, woodworking, auto and metal shop.

Woodworking program is offering beginning and advanced courses. Beginning students made step ladders while advanced classes worked on cabinets and tables.

The auto shop course is covering small and large engines and the dismantling and reassembling of their own cars. In metal shop, students were taught the fundamentals of shop safety, the use of hand tools and welding techniques. Drafting classes worked on the procedures of mechanical drawing and gives the student a chance to apply the skills in some architectural work.

Versatility and improvement is our goal

A new program in the Home Economics department this year was nursery visitation. Students from Phyllis Garnant's child development class went to various nursery schools and worked with the children.

Other courses offered in this department were home furnishing, personal family living, foods and nutrition and clothing and textiles. These are taught by Phyllis Garnant, Ann Borgen, Janice Roxberg and Patricia Schwartz, who are encouraged by the number of boys interested in the home economics courses.

Driver's Ed. emphasizes safety and skills

In order to develop safe and efficient drivers the law requires that a student be 15 years or older, acquire an instruction permit, wish to obtain a license before the age of eighteen and pass the three areas in which the drivers education program is divided. Students are required to pass driving, classwork and simulator in order to receive a drivers license. There were no curriculum changes, however, the department consists of teacher changes. Two Lincoln teachers, Walter Imig and Francis Belding, were replaced by Floyd Constant and Steve Koroch.

P.E. classes strive for physical fitness

The girls' physical education classes worked in units for approximately six weeks offering a choice of individual or team sports, gymnastics, rhythmic exercises, folk dancing, swimming and track. The individual sports program consisted of badminton, archery and tennis. The team sports program offers soccer, basketball and volleyball.

The boys physical education classes had different units offered this year. A new unit this year was badminton. Along with basketball, track (spring and fall), wrestling, volleyball and flag football. All two to three week courses, they gave gym students a variety. Studying fundamentals were the goals of these sports games.

The state of Iowa requires each student to participate in physical education. The requirement is based on the importance of physical fitness and recreational or leisure time skills in our lives.

English classes more elective each year

Lincoln's English department went through changes this year. The sophomore English students got the chance to move directly into the 20 English electives this year due to tests which exempted them from taking the standard English program. Approximately 34 students qualified to move directly into elective courses, according to department head Lillian Hildreth.

Other Lincoln students were put in classes on the basis of their tests scores, stressing usage or regular English fundamentals.

A second test was held to see if more students could pass out of the second semester where they could move directly to the elective program.

Lincoln is fortunate to be the only high school with such an English program. English electives include: Creative Writing I, II; Drama I, II; Journalism I, II, III; American Novel; Writing Survey; Expository Writing I, II; Speech Survey; Individualized Reading; and Short Story.

Languages communicate

The Foreign Language department offered French, Russian, Latin, and Spanish this year. Not only do the students learn to better understand the people that speak the language they are studying, but by using tapes, films, and records they also learn to read and speak each language. The culture and custom of the particular country is also studied. Each language department has a club with student officers which have activities throughout the year.

"The foreign Language department is convinced that every well educated person must be familiar with the language and culture of a country other than his own. If a student continues his education in college he will realize that the most common degrees such as a Bachelor of Arts continue to have foreign language as a requirement," states Erna Bevington, department head.

Mathematics moves minds

The Mathematics Department has added a new course this year to the curriculum entitled Applied Occupational Mathematics. This course is intended to provide a related math experience to those students currently enrolled in the industrial arts program and other course areas. The main areas of concentration are the mathematics in electricity, carpentry, metal shop, auto shop and distributive education. The Omnicron Kappa (Math club) completed its activities for the year. Students prepared for the Creighton University Mathematics Field Day and the Annual Mathematics Tests, both during the second semester.

Exploring to find new answers

"Out of an estimated 15 science courses, Lincoln's 1200 science students are fortunate to have one of the largest science facilities of the Des Moines High schools," according to Alan Ewers, head of the science department. Of all the high schools Lincoln is one of the best equipped also. Curriculum included: Biology I; II, Ecology, Botany, Zoology I; II, Chemistry, Physiology, three different Physics courses, Electricity and Electronics. In the past three years Ecology, Botany, Zoology I; II, and Conservation classes have increased in enrollment because of the students growing interest in their environment.

Mr. Ewers is looking forward to more science students next year.

Studying the past to move forward

This year Lincoln's social science department catered to various interests of students with its electives. Requirements for graduation include two credits of social science. Sophomores had to take either United States History or Geography in an Urban Age. American government and economics each one a one semester course are also required for graduation.

New courses last year, Revolution and Social Reform, one semester courses were meant to be back to back. They stress the two ways in which countries bring about changes.

Social science electives and required classes are as follows: Twentieth Century Europe which delves into the recent history of the European countries, and Emerging Nations of the World covers the Middle East, Africa, and Southeast Asia, primary centers of conflict this year. Asian studies is the study of all Asian countries and their backgrounds. Other courses include: Latin American—deals with culture, climate, philosophies and religion. Sociology—centers around major sociological concepts. Psychology—gives students understanding of social and human behavior. Geography in an Urban Age—chief goal is to provide students with knowledge and cognitive skill to enable them to make generalizations and think abstractly. Revolution—concept of revolution itself lead students to value our system of social reform. Social Reform—study of social reform movements in Great Britain and the United States. Economics—creates intelligent participants in the area of production, distribution and consumption of various commodities. American Government—studies of the progression and background of the American government. Personal Family Living—deals with life and family living.

Fine Arts add culture to Lincoln

Lincoln's Art department offered a wide and varied course of instruction. The art program consists of Art fundamentals, a one year course for first year art students. Second year students had the option of taking either Drawing-Painting II or Crafts II. In their third year students entered Drawing-Painting III or Crafts III.

The vocal music department consisting of Swing Choir, Chamber Chorale, Concert Choir, Prep Choir, and Girls Glee participated in many performances this year, for the school and community, including winter and spring concerts.

Instrumental performances with marching band and orchestra began the year. Wind ensemble, concert band, and stage band were opened to school instrumentalists.

Opened to all students this year other than the performing groups was music appreciation and modern music courses.

New year brings in 806 Sophomores

Orientation welcomed a sophomore class of over 800 to Lincoln on August 28th. The entire class met in the auditorium first to be presented school policies by members of the administration. At this time, they were assigned to their homerooms where they were introduced to their homeroom teachers. They then were able to roam the halls and become familiarized with the building and the location of various classes. The Journalism Department put out an Orientation Pamphlet which included a map of the school, and other vital information.

Students were invited to visit the counseling center to become acquainted with the counselors and to examine the career education materials available at the center. Hopefully a career education day or days can be planned for the school year.

Homecoming highlights include Float, dance

Lincoln's Homecoming week of September 23 to 27 was a busy week for many students. The Senior Float was designed and constructed by members of the senior class.

The Float was brought to Lincoln Friday morning during a procession of cars with the Float leading the way.

The traditional Powder Puff football game resulted in Pep Club defeating a team of Cheerleaders, Drill Team, Flags and Baton Twirlers. The girls were coached by several varsity football players.

The Homecoming Assembly boosted spirit for the upcoming Homecoming Lincoln-Tech game. A half-time show performance by the Marching band, presented the Homecoming court.

The week was climaxed by the Homecoming dance Saturday the 27th. The group Flood provided music for the couples who attended.

Anderson, Long reign over Homecoming

Voices were hushed as the 1974 Homecoming King and Queen were announced at the coronation assembly September 26. Moments after being crowned, Queen Kim Anderson and King Mark Long made their traditional walk around the gym. The Homecoming Court consisted of queen candidates Jeanne Bird, Debbie Gering, Cathy Renda, Julie Schmaltz, and Shellie Swan. The king candidates included Kent Cherry, Mark Eggers, Rick Parsons, Matt Tapscott, and Jeff Trujillo. The Lincoln Swing Choir and former Homecoming King Doyle Smith performed as students and faculty observed the coronation.

The first runner-up couple in Mark's and Kim's court was Jeanne Bird and Matt Tapscott. Cathy Renda and Mark Eggers were elected second runners-up. Having runners-up in electing the Homecoming Queen and King was a first at Lincoln. Junior Pam Cross feels that the runner-up system is another beginning in Lincoln's Homecoming traditions.

Enthusiasm and spirit, a Pep Club tradition

An enthusiastic year for Pep Club began with varied Homecoming activities. During the annual Powder Puff game, the Pep Club team emerged victorious over the cheerleaders, Drill Team, Flags and Batons. Some members participated in a pep rally before the game and a balloon release during half time. Numerous out of town games were attended this year, including bus trips to Ottumwa for a football game and to Chariton for a basketball game.

Cheerleaders kick-off Rail spirit

Again this year, two separate varsity cheerleading squads were used. This enabled more individual spirit and enthusiasm for each sport. The Football, Wrestling, and Girl's Swimming squad was very lively and busy with many pep assembly performances. New uniforms added a bit of a sparkle. Led by captain Debbie Gering, the Football squad returned from a summer cheerleading camp with award winning cheers and routines.

The Football squad received outstanding ratings every day for cheering and enthusiasm during competition at NCA camp held at Lake Okoboji.

Basketball squad continues spirit

Along with the Football Cheerleaders, the Basketball Cheerleaders learned many new cheers and chants to boost enthusiasm this year. Raising money with a bake sale and a car wash, the squad was able to purchase new uniforms. Headed by captain Diane Forkner, the squad supported all Basketball, Cross Country, and Boys Swimming events.

Sophs show leadership

Chosen from freshman classes of area junior high schools, the sophomore cheerleaders followed various sophomore teams throughout their seasons.

Led by captain Leslie Benda, the squad took part in summer practices with the varsity squads. Money making projects included a car wash, a bake sale, and selling monogrammed hats. New uniforms were financed by the sales. The sophs were sponsored by Judy Griffin and Ann Borgen.

Highlighting halftime events were the Baton Corps. Under captain Shellie Ballard, the Majorettes performed special stunts with flaming batons.

The girls accompanied the marching band to Iowa City. They performed stunts with flaming batons along with other routines.

Drill Team combines variety, tradition

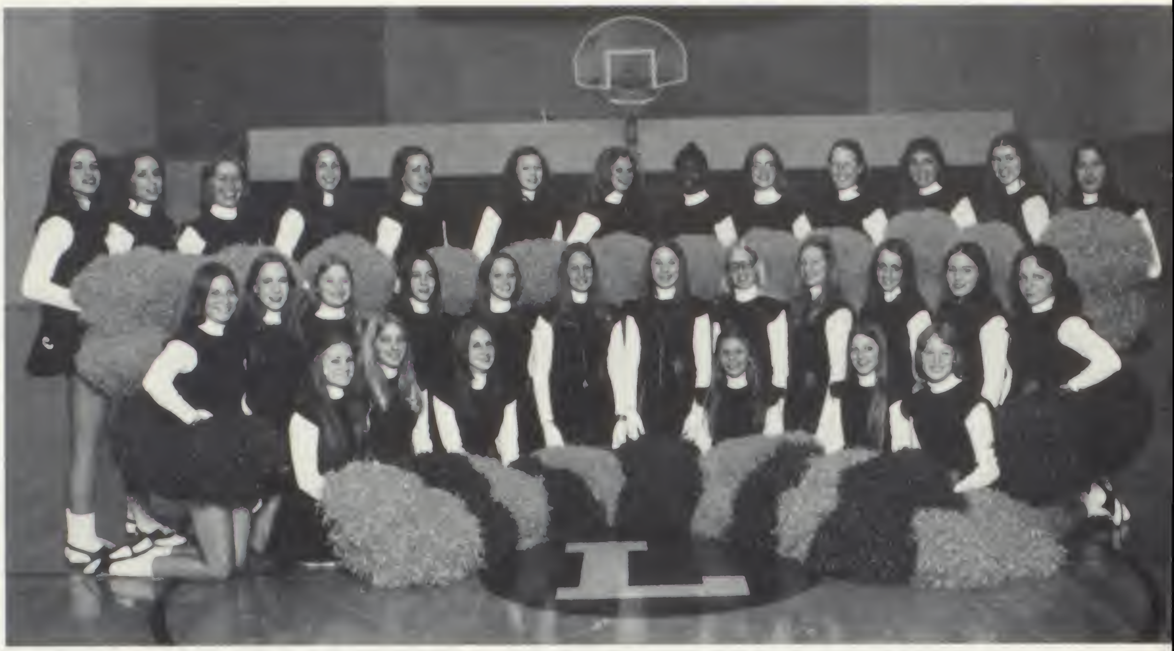
Summer practices started the '74-'75 season early for Lincoln's Drill Team. The squad of thirty-two juniors and seniors performed for spectators during football and basketball halftimes.

Besides regular fall activities, the group also accompanied the Marching Band to Iowa City to appear in the University Homecoming Parade.

Led by captains Teri Grimes and Sue Isaacson, the group marched in spring parades in Pella and Ames. "This year's squad has cooperated and participated with more effort than previous squads," boasts Linda Ritland, club sponsor.



The '74-'75 Drill Team includes (first row) B. Shumway, T. Harper, J. Halter, T. Bird, B. Richards, M. Runkel. (Second row) D. Proudfit, C. Kent, M. Knauer, L. Helland, T. Van Zuuk, co-captain S. # Twirlers brighten Lincoln victories

Summer practices ended with a first performance at the Girl's Club Picnic for Flags.

Led by co-captains Donna Baber and Vikki Fazio, Flags performed at various athletic events. A trip to Iowa City with the marching band, bake sales and candy sales added variety to their marching season.

New marching uniforms and new skirts and sweaters brightened up their appearance and spirit.

Flags were sponsored by Kathy Myers and Sally Fisher.

I wanted to carry a flag and march, To support my school and show I cared; My school which is really people, that I wanted to know and be known by. People I wish I could take in my arms and be close to. I would hug you all, crowd of people, as I stand on the yellow floor and face you, proud and shy, holding my flag tight in my cold hands. Please love me!

But you're stuck in your seats—distance blocking the way between us—and whether I march tonight or no—the love I need can't come from the crowd, but rather, from these ten, my friends, whose lives touch mine, giggles and raging, indifference and deep concern, blindly selfish and reaching out, you that I see in all of your interesting complexity, and you really do know and see and love and care about me.

Marching Band strives for perfection

Last year's marching band returned from Winnipeg, Canada after receiving a third place trophy in national competition. The 1974-75 marching band strived to keep up their new reputation.

7:00 morning and 11:30 noon practices highlighted the year with a familiar voice shouting, "Toe Point! Knee Lift! Drive, Drive, Drive!" as band director Dennis Dowell pushed for perfection.

A trip to Iowa City added to the year's experiences, as the band marched in the University's homecoming parade.

Band members march into a synchronized formation during a pregame show.

Assemblies spur student involvement

Outstanding spirit displayed at pep assemblies encouraged success and drive. Enthusiasm, excitement, and vigor represented pride of a number one school.

Different organizations provided spirit stirring skits, cheers and music. Some of this entertainment varied from portraying a Hoover Huskie to a banana eating contest.

An experimental open seating Christmas assembly was sponsored by the music department. It combined school spirit with Christmas spirit and brought the student body closer together.

Instrumental music broadens interests

As in past years, Jazz Band and Orchestra improved their reputation with fine performances, along with a new comer, the Collegium Musicum, an antique instrumental band that plays Renaissance and Baroque music.

Jazz Band, playing jazz music from the 40's to the present, attended various festivals which included competing, clinics, and listening to concerts. Studying various aspects of playing jazz was their main purpose. Along with festivals, they performed locally and at special benefits. Major Jazz Festivals in which they took part this year were the SCIB Jazz Festival, Dec. 14; UNI Jazz Festival, Jan. 24 where they scored an all time high in their rating. Highlighting the year was a second place rating at the Fremomont Jazz Competition, Feb. 8, and the Hoover Jazz Festival March 8.

Participating in large and small group concerts, the Orchestra was active this year. Under the direction of Sandra Tatge, the piece orchestra worked hard, and put in many hours of practicing to improve their performances. An added dimension to this year's orchestra was including a wind instrument section.

Harpsicord, recorder, and antique brass instruments were used by the Collegium Musicum to play Renaissance and Baroque music. This newly formed group, headed by Dennis Dowell, checked out music from local libraries to complete their practices. The students worked to appreciate cultural music.

Mimes rate high at State

Under the direction of Carol Harms and student director Doug Kline, the pantomime show was presented on October 31. A brief preview of the show in a special assembly drew many students, packing the auditorium for the show. The mimes presented their show to many southside junior high schools also. "Winning top ratings at the state speech contest highlighted our year," according to Kline.

'. . . and we did it our way.'

Lincoln's swing choir, The New Beginning, led another championship year winning first place honors at the Hoover Jazz Festival and Midlands Jazz Festival in Fremont, Nebraska. Also in Fremont, the 40-member group received the "Outstanding Ensemble Award" for the second consecutive year.

Besides numerous "gigs" and bus trips throughout the year, swing choir staged two all school productions in November and April.

The "Boogie Team" also performed for various school, pep, and celebrities assemblies and participated in a group retreat last August.

Concert Choir warbles wholeheartedly

Under the leadership of director Carol Stewart, Concert Choir, followed in the footsteps of last year's unprecedented first place rating in the state and took part in various school year activities.

Performing to a "standing room only" crowd at Open House, the choir also did promotional concerts at south side junior high schools, a Christmas concert, a spring concert and performances at Class Day and Commencement.

Concert Choir president Doug Kline helped to keep the group organized during many of the activities. These activities included the sponsoring of a 50's mixer that featured live performances by group members. They were also the chief sponsors for "Hello Dolly".

Concentration set on Rennaissance music

Chamber Chorale is one of the most prestigious groups at Lincoln. Their many performances included two at the Salisbury House in 16th century costume. These came after many hours of hard work and lots of research into Rennaissance music over statesance music and costume. One of the biggest highlights of the year was the Chorale's Christmas performance of their Rennaissance music over statewide television.

The Chorale was attended by Nancy Swinehart and Josie Brooks.

Objective: preparation for performance

"To educate themselves so they can perform is what it's all about . . ." said Carol Stewart, vocal music director.

This year's vocal music department participated in various programs including winter and spring concerts. Girls Glee and Prep Choir are mostly devoted to learning to read notes and fundamentals of music.

"Take my wrap, fellas.
Find me an empty lap, fellas!
Dolly will never
go away again!"

With over 200 people involved, the production of "Hello Dolly!" was completed February 25-27. Directed by Carol Harms and Carol Stewart, the cast of 60 was accompanied by a pit orchestra led by band director Dennis Dowell.

The part of Dolly Levi was portrayed by senior Marta Runkel opposite senior Doug Kline as Horace Vandergelder. Romantic leads were played by senior Steve Quirk and junior Karol Kratz with other principal roles given to senior Becky Richards and juniors Kay Andrews, Pat Craig and Phil Yetter.

Sophisticated choreography, taught by Helen Lutz and Jan Schissel, was evident in intricate dances by cast and chorus members.

A colorful wardrobe was coordinated by a committee headed by costumers Anita Micich and Lila Kline. Student directors were juniors Jeff Gabler and Jon Zarley with senior Tara Bird assisting choreographers.

RAILSPLITTER adopts new approach

Railsplitter staffers were inspired with new ideas for the upcoming year last summer when five of the journalists attended summer workshops at Drake, Iowa State and the University of Iowa.

Co-editors Doug Kline and Mark Hall headed up the changes which included a new nameplate, variation of copy width, the addition of graphics and a news briefs column.

The Railsplitter was awarded Medalist rank by the Columbia Press Association in New York, March 14. Not more than 10% of entries in a given class are awarded this ranking.

DECA students earn while learning

"Developing future leaders for marketing and distributing" is the slogan for the Distributive Education Clubs of America, otherwise known as DECA. Sponsored by Dan Murray, club members acquired job skills in actual work situations such as grocery stores, restaurants, gas stations, auto body shops, and the Des Moines Flying Service.

The club sent representatives to various conferences such as the Central Regional Conference and Chapter Development Conference. Contests entered included Area Leadership and the State Leadership.

DECA raised funds by selling spirit buttons, candy, and mirrors. The club also made money from sponsoring a Christmas mixer, car wash and a raffle. DECA also maintains the activities sign on the front lawn.

Girl's Club sponsors picnic, dance

Open to all girls, Lincoln's Girls Club sponsored various activities for the student body.

This year's program started with a fall Big Sister-Little Sister picnic for incoming sophomore girls. This was to benefit the sophomores and better acquaint them with Lincoln.

Promoting Homecoming Spirit, the club sold brilliant colored balloons and sponsored a poster paint.

The club also put out buzz books. Profits from the sale were saved for future use.

"Man of the Year" elections hightlighted the Sweetheart Dance, which was sponsored by the club. Mark Long was elected Senior Man of the Year, Chris Kern was picked by the Juniors, and Doug Long was the Sophomore's choice. Terra Firma provided music for the dance which took place on March 1.

Goal: 'Interest in France and her culture'

French club, sponsored by Erna Bevington, is in its sixteenth year at Lincoln. The club is supported by thirty members who throughout the year have participated in many activities including showing slides of "Versailles", playing games in French and holding a potluck banquet in December.

The purpose of the club is "To encourage an interest in France and her language and to gain a knowledge and understanding of her manners and customs."

Spanish Club's first meeting was presided by president Lynn Harvey. The club, sponsored by Maria Creagh, discussed ways of making money, those being the BLH drive, a bake sale, and cheese sales.

Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine parties were just a few of the year's many festivities. Other activities included an International Foreign Food Fair (Lincoln representing Guatemala), a trip to Pella for Language Day, a fashion show, and participation in Pan American Celebration Week.

Fall officers Lynn Harvey, president; Andy Hart, vice-president; Sarah Clark, secretary; and Betsy Shirley, treasurer, and spring officers Lynn Sparks, president; Kevin Livengood, vice-president; Frank Fillipelli, secretary; and Kevin Ketzler, treasurer, led the group.

U.N. Clubbers represent Canada

United Nations Club, sponsored by Jerry Chiaramonte, began the year by making preparations for the 1974 Governor's Youth Conference Day which was held in October. Money raising projects to fund the trip to U. N. I. were enthusiastically taken on by the club. Cheese and candy were sold and a car wash held under the leadership of fall and spring officers Patti Douglass, Susi Harris, Rose King, Dawn Messinger, Carol Miller and Vicki Wren. Highlight of the year was the Model United Nations Mock General Assembly held in April. Representing Canada, U.N. Club participated in debate.

Exchange students visit Lincoln

Lincoln hosted foreign exchange students from Brazil, Mexico, and England. The students visited Des Moines, sharing accommodations with Lincoln students and their families. The Brazilian and Mexican students went through the scheduling program with counselors and were placed in classes according to their interests. They became actual students and followed curriculum as offered by the teachers.

The British students attended classes with their hosts in fulfilling their objective of better understanding the American school system. Extra-curricular activities included picnics, Capitol tours, and a trip to the Amana Colonies with their hosts.

Various projects occupy Dorian Art

The annual art sale, decorating the school for special events, designing and choosing the Railsplitter cover, and creating the school Christmas card were some of the projects the Dorian Art Club accomplished in a full year of activities.

Sponsored by Dale McLean, the club took part in various exhibits including the South Des Moines Exhibit and a Des Moines Art Center exhibit. The students also furnished paintings for the school board.

One of the major aims of the club is to purchase art works for Lincoln's permanent collection. The works are purchased through club dues and funds raised during the annual art sale arranged by Pam Countryman, Burt Powley, Faunda Haag and Cheryl Sease. Another purpose is to understand and appreciate the meaning of art through their work.

Clubs cater to various interests

"Interest in horses is the only requirement," states President Cheryl Sease of the Equestrian Club. The club went on trail rides and sponsored a horse show, striving to understand different aspects of horsemanship. Included in the year's activities were numerous trail rides, visiting championship horses and their owners, and having fund raising projects for their rides and the show. Candy sales helped finance a horse show performed by the club. Being a new group the club plans to expand further next year.

The Math Club, sponsored by Elbert Jennings and Gary Bagby, worked to learn about possible careers in mathematics during meetings this year. Their purpose is to deepen interest in mathematics, and to gain more knowledge and pass it on to others, expressed President Jon Walker.

A mathematics field day at Creighton University was a big event this year. Along with public speakers and going to computer centers, their schedule was complete. A new motion this year was to challenge other high schools to "chalk talk" and five man teams.

The primary objective of the Ecology Club is to do an experimental study of an ecological topic of interest. The group has chosen to gather information on the subject of "Environment vs. the Economy." Information will be gathered by research, surveys, pictures and tape recordings. The group will interpret the data and draw their conclusions. From this they hope to get an article published.

As a fund raising project the club is considering getting involved in service type work.

A busy year for Matmaids

The 1974-75 Matmaids had many responsibilities along with supplying spirit for wrestling meets. Some of the duties performed throughout the year were putting up rosters, making programs, announcing line-ups, decorating locker rooms, taging wrestlers, helping coaches, and taping mats.

All the Matmaids were appreciated by both wrestlers and spectators for a complete and accurate job this year. Sponsored by Gordon Blenderman, the Matmaids look forward to a successful season next year.

Eggers heads Lettermen's Club

Senior Mark Eggers headed the Lettermens Club, Lincoln's club for athletic letter winners. Even though the club consists of over 100 members, approximately 30 are actively involved.

A $100 donation was given to the cheerleaders to help pay for tags. Part of this money was raised by jerseys sold in the fall.

Other officers include vice-president Mike Nixon and secretary-treasurer Garold Oliver.

Volunteer Service provides training

"Membership consists of students who are interested in other people," says coordinator Rae Gene Robbins of The Students Educational Services Club. The club, which is now a class at Lincoln giving class credit, enables students to work outside of Lincoln in other schools or service organizations of their choice. Due to the new focus on other service related activities other than training in teaching, it has been enlarged to other professions such as nursing, law, social work, youth activities and pre-school.

Debate and Forensics receive top ratings

Following in the footsteps of last year's state championship team, Lincoln's Debaters received top ratings this year. Headed by Ms. Mary Jo Pierce, this year's varsity team has placed in most major tournaments.

"Learning to express yourself clearly and thinking on your feet, are vital", expressed Captain Beth Kalb. Major tournaments in which Debaters took part this year were the Coe College Tournament January 10-11 in Cedar Rapids, the NFL tournament, and the IFL tournaments in February.

The Forensics Club, composed of debate and individual events, strives to create interest in speech and other related events throughout Lincoln. Included in the club were students who were time keepers and researchers.

Clubs provide services to school

As an enrichment program, the Young Office Workers was open to students in business related classes. Sponsored by Alice Else, the students designed and distributed the Homecoming activities calendar. The club also took a field trip to Farmer's Elevator Mutual Insurance Company to observe office work.

Study Hall students donate free periods

Students volunteered their free time to assist the office staff, counseling center, librarians, student center, and the nurse.

The office girls filed, sorted, and ran errands. The counseling staff did similar duties in the counseling center.

Tasks performed by librarian aids included checking and distributing books and periodicals in the library. Student center volunteers took care of candy and pop sales.

Lincoln's school nurse, Alice Bowling, supervised her own staff, which assisted her in various duties.

Rails tie for second in Metro

Lincoln Rails ended the season tied for 2nd in the Metro with an 8-6 record, 15-10 overall. The Rails advanced in tournament play by defeating Hoover and Indianola but were defeated by Creston in Sub-State.

Several players earned All-Metro recognition. Second team honors were given to pitcher Rick Parsons, second baseman Bob Sinclair, and shortstop Kyle Ferguson. Kent Cherry, Mike Nixon, Lance Brauer and Tim Nicolino received Honorable Mention. Parsons also received 3rd team All-District honors and Honorable Mention All-State. Kent Cherry received 1st team All-District honors and Honorable Mention All-State.

Returning lettermen for next season will be seniors Rick Parsons, Doug Fouts, Jim Lankford, and Mike Nixon. The only junior to letter was Chuck Agan.

Girls share Metro title with East

Lincoln's girls' softball team ended their '74 season with a 17 and 5 record overall. The girls tied for first place with East High as Metropolitan softball champs. Both teams ended their season play with a 12 and 2 record.

Lincoln placed second in the Saydel tournament where three girls shared births on the all-tournament team. Pitcher Brenda Rice, third baseman Mary Johnson, and centerfielder Kathy Lukehart were awarded all-tournament T-shirts. Lincoln lost to Dallas Center in the final game in the tenth inning, after defeating Hoover in 14 innings which advanced them to the finals.

Brenda Rice made first team all-Metro and third team all-state. A torn ligament in her arm kept Brenda out a few games but she ended the season with a 14 inning loss to East in the second round of sectional play.

Sophomore Brenda Rice (above) shows pitching form in the Metro game. Coach Larry Hayes expressed gratitude towards Brenda Rice. Brenda, according to Coach Hayes, was a major asset in Metro-play. # J.V. team ends second year

Lincoln's J. V. softball team ended their season of competition with a 9 and 9 record over all. Pitchers Michelle Brown and Jody DeCarlo aided the team with 4 and 6, 5 and 2 records respectively. The competition on the team was wide.

"J. V. has been a big help to the varsity," commented coach Larry Hayes. The team played many games which helped them to gain experience. They are coached by Jim Kite presently teaching at Kurtz Junior High. Being his first year of coaching the J. V. team, he felt the team did well. The season schedule included all Metro teams and Johnston, Urbandale, and Norwalk. '74 graduate Melody Cole received the only award on the team.

Girl's Swimming, a year to remember

Being a year to remember, the girl's swimming team finished convincingly with a 8-4 over all record. Coach Tom Cady felt the team consisted of a most pleasurable mixture of experienced young and old swimmers. 10 out of 11 previous school swimming records were broken and set up the finishing punch of the season. Lincoln ranked an overwhelming third in districts. Qualifying for state were freshman Beda Soliday in the 100 Butterfly, who placed fifth in the state. Also senior Vicki Wren, sophomore Mary Neff, and freshmen Beda Soliday and Tammy Randleman qualified in the 200 Yard Individual Relay, and seniors Amy Mahnke and Vicki Wren, and freshmen Beda Soliday and Tammy Randleman qualified in the 400 Freestyle Relay. Divers Jill Cady, a junior transfer from Hoover, and freshman Debbie Judish qualified first and second respectively in districts. Jill Cady finished the season with her third place ranking in state and Debbie Judish placed in the top fifteen.

Lowe leads harriers to second in Metro

This year's varsity cross country team, lead by captains Jeff Irving and Barry Lowe, finished with a second place in Metro-Conference meet. They also had a 3-3 dual meet record and finished eighth in the state meet.

Second year All-Stater Barry Lowe smashed the school two mile record by 23 seconds, bringing it down to a 9:20.0.

Coach Dave Bennet was pleased with the second place finish in Metro.

Second season for girl Harriers

"Girls' Cross Country at Lincoln is becoming a better known sport as more people are becoming aware of it," according to Coach Phil Martin.

The girls ended their second season of competition with a record of 5-3. Lincoln placed third, sixth, and ninth respectively in the Ames, Marshalltown, and Urbandale Invitational meets. The girls advanced to the District meet where they placed 12th out of 23. Cathy Sagrillo led the team, placing 13th out of 115 runners.

Cathy also qualified for State with her 8:56 clocking on a mile and a half course where she placed 92nd out of 165.

According to Coach Martin, he feels the team will be stronger next year as the complete team will be returning. The girls helped to make the spring track team stronger.

Powerful offense sparks Rails

The Rails opened the season with new head coach Cecil Rhoads, and assistant coach Hugh Drake.

Returning lettermen for the Rails include: Chuck Agan, Doug Berard, Kent Cherry, Jim Dilley, Mark Eggers, Steve Foldes, Craig Hall, Joe Kline, Rick Parsons, Pat Potts, Doug Speicher, and Jeff Trujillo.

They achieved fourth in Metro finishing with a 5-4 record. Several players received Metro recognition. First string honors were given to defensive back Steve Foldes and tackle Pat Potts. Second team honors went to Chuck Agan, Doug Speicher, Jeff Trujillo. Kent Cherry, Joe Kline, and Rick Parsons were awarded honorable mention.

Quarterback Rick Parsons was first in Metro, and fifth in the State in yards gained in passing.

'Roothogs' take firm stand

Rails started the season with a new defensive coach, Hugh Drake. 10 of the 11 starting on defense were seniors, Jon Stapes being the only junior.

Returning defensive lettermen are Kent Cherry, Jim Dilley, Randy Emerson, Doug Fouts, Steve Foldes, Craig Hall, Pat Potts, Doug Speicher, Jeff Trujillo, and Bill Truitt. Due to the injury Greg Davidson received early in the '73 season he was not able to earn his letter but well proved himself this season.

Rail defense recorded one shutout, 18-0 over Hoover, and dominated their opponents. Dowling and North were the only teams to score more than 20 points against the tough Railsplitter defense, which was led by 1st team All-Metro defensive back Steve Foldes and 2nd team defense noseman Jeff Trujillo.

Roothogs hosted a Homecoming game in their honor against Valley. The game ended in a 20-14 victory. The squad chose Debbie Gering and Donna Speicher as their candidates, and elected Donna Speicher as their Queen.

J.V. strengthens Rails

The Railsplitter J.V. team finished their season with a 4-4 record. The junior-varsity team consisted of all those players who didn't start regularly for the varsity. The J.V.'s potent wishbone offense relied heavily on its ground game which was led by senior halfbacks Doug Fouts and Joe Wilson. Junior fullback Rick Kaili provided power up the middle and hard-nosed blocking. Q.B. Kevin Livengood found passing targets in wide receivers Jim Lankford and Bob Speed. The line play was dominated by seniors Scott Blunck and Jim Dilley; juniors Jim Bell, Chuck Lacona, Earl Agan, and Jeff Conner. Two of the J.V. losses were last second thrillers against Ames and Newton. Last year's J.V. schedule was cancelled due to injuries making the '74-'75 season a bright spot and a change of pace for the Rails.

Sophs roll to a 4-4 record

The 1974 sophomore football team finished the season with a 4-4 record, under the new direction of coaches Dave Ortale and Tim Barker.

Victories for the young Rails came through hard fought battles with Ames, North, Roosevelt and Valley. "The greatest disappointment was a 28-0 loss to city rival East," commented Coach Ortale.

The little Abes' scoring attack was directed by Doug Long, quarterback, with Bob Umdenstock, Mark Edwards, and Tim O'Hara rounding out the backfield. Prime aerial targets were ends Jack Pulliam and Jim Bixler.

Leading the defense were safety Joe Joyce, tackle John Rutan and defensive halfback Chuck Funaro.

Commenting on the season, Coach Ortale said, "The season provided both excitement and disappointment as the young Rails showed great team unity and spirit. Coach Barker and I feel this sophomore team will do great things for Lincoln."

Gymnasts emphasize poise, grace, style

Coach Linda Ritland guided and pushed the girls gymnastic team, with the help of student manager Cindy Robinson, through their fourth year of competition with a 2-7 record.

Being a very young team, there will be many returning letter winners to help to guide the team in years to come. Julie Schmaltz and Shellie Swan were the only two seniors performing on this year's team.

This year's letter winners include: Rhonda Borchert, Robin Brown, Barbie George, Karen Locke, Ingrid Stundins, and Vicki Van Cleve.

Rails: undisputed Metro Champs, 18-0

Cagers land three on All-Metro team

Lincoln's boys basketball team cruised to an undefeated season in Conference play under the coaching of John Carle. This was the first time in Metro history for a team to claim the crown undefeated. Another mark in Metro history went down as Lincoln's team had the highest offensive average in the conference, 95.6.

Under captain Mark Long, all of the team school records were broken: best record: 24-0, most points one season: 2,167, most conference points one season: 1,338, best conference offensive average: 95.6, high single game: 124.

Chris Kern, Ron Lemons, and Mark Long dominated the first team all-Metro. John Thorup was chosen for second team, with Mike Nixon receiving honorable mention.

Again this year two key games were played against Metro-foe Hoover at Vet's Auditorium in front of crowds of 9,000 and 11,000 people.

#1 Rails win state 'AAA' cage title

Kern, Long named to 1st, Lemons to 2nd All-State teams

Lincoln's phenomenal cagers became the 1975 'AAA' state champions, concluding the season with a perfect 24-0 record.

The Rails became the first team to win the title undefeated since Storm Lake in 1968 and the first Metro team to win it since Roosevelt in 1965.

The cagers faced stiff competition against Dowling, Tech, East, Waverly-Shell Rock and Marshalltown in their march to the final game.

Lincoln proved too tough for Ames in the state game, pulling out a 56-51 victory. The close game was decided after the Rails managed a small lead late in the game and held off an Ames comeback attempt in the closing seconds.

Chris Kern, Ron Lemons and Mark Long received All-Tourney berths. Kern and Long were placed on the All-State first team, Lemons on the second team and John Thorup received honorable mention.

Little Abes roll to a first in Metro

Lincoln's sophomore basketball team finished with a 16-2 record and a first place finish in the Metro Conference. Coach Jerry Schartner explains, "this is the best team I've had in my eight years of coaching at Lincoln." Bob Umdenstock was leading scorer in the conference with 223 points in 17 games.

Kirby Van Nausdle set a school sophomore record for 67 steals in one season, as well as sharing defensive honor with Umdenstock. Coach Shartner gave out honorary awards to team members Doug Long, Doug Harvey, Tim Hollingsworth, Joe Joyce, Kevin Swanson, Darrell Finley, Randy Karnes and Marvin Fisher.

Grapplers' individuality stands strong

Lincoln varsity wrestling squad stands 1-5-1 in the conference. This year the team has sustained many injuries. The '74-'75 season was one for individual efforts as the team lacked depth. Seniors Jeff Draper, 112 lb., Rick Houge, 126 lbs., and Jeff Trujillo, 187 lbs. have all done an exceptional job in competition according to Coach Larry Hayes.

Lincoln held their annual invitational February 8. The team took fifth place overall, and sophomores Scott Pierce, and Kevin Parker won second place in finals for their weight divisions.

Jeff Trujillo and Jeff Draper participated in the sectionals February 14-15. Draper went on to Districts held at Valley, February 18-19, in which he was eliminated in first round competition.

'Super Frogs', a year for the seniors

Coached by Tom Cady, Lincoln's boy's swim team ended the season with a 7-3 record.

Seniors Cricket Edwards, Mark Nagel, Gary Teter, and Bill Thomason made up the medley relay team which placed first in Metro conference.

New records were set by senior Cricket Edwards, 500 yd. free style; seniors Eric Mahnke, Mark Nagel, Gary Teter, and sophomore Mike Bird, 400 yd. free style relay; and senior Bill Thomason tied the record in the 100 yd. backstroke. Seniors who rounded out the team were Rick Butz, Ron Lee, and Nick Romano.

Senior Cricket Edwards placed fifth in backstroke and eighth in individual medley in the state meet held at Ames. Others who placed in state were senior Eric Mahnke, eleventh and the Medley relay team which placed seventh. The team as a whole placed fourteenth.

Track events reflect determined effort

"Lincoln's girls track team is a young team," comments coach Ortale. The team had a good season last year and coach expects a good season this year. The girls started the season off slow but improved much during the season. Returning letter winners, seniors Janet Edwards, Brenda Halterman, Kathy Lukehart, Robyne Seibert. Juniors Cindy Edwards, Sandy Hayman, Loree Moro, and Kathy Sagrillo.

Expected to be strong competitors for girls track are Brenda (shot put and discus), Cathy (880 and mile) and Loree (hurdles and 440).

Head down, swing, now follow through

The 1974-75 boys and girls golf team could be a tough group to beat. Boys returning lettermen include Seniors, Dale Brown, Ed Cory, Dave Tillinghast. Girls returning lettermen include, Seniors Debbie Palis, Darcy Frederick, and Juniors Shiela Griffin and Marianne Sirianne.

"The season should be a good one once it gets started. The team is considerably stronger than a year ago. Their success in the metro, however, will depend on how strong the other teams are," said golf coach Mr. Don Ceynar.

Boys and Girls Golf team includes: (front row), K. Palis, S. Woods, J. Reed, D. Benoit, L. Harbert, S. Griffin, M. Sirianne, D. Frederick. (Second row), D. Palis, D. Tipping, E. Cory, R. Carey, J. # Girl's tennis strive to win Metro

Lincoln's tennis team, both girl's and boy's, showed much potential and experience. The boy's team finished strong overall in metro play. Returning letterwinners for boy's last year consisted of Karl Stundins, Mike Nixon, Kirk Grier, Jeff Schmaltz, Mike Marturello, Carl Hotchkiss, Jon Zarley, and Jeff McClintock. The boy's started out a good season by upsetting Valley and finished with a consistent record.

The girl's team had returning letterwinners that included cocaptains Julie Johnson, and Jan Johnson, Kathy Murphy, Debbie Porter, Beth Fritz, Leslie Benda, and Carla Burt. Lincoln's girl's hosted an invitational with six teams along with traveling to Red Oak to play Sioux City and Atlantic.

Approximately 800 sophomores began the 1974-75 school year with their fall meeting in the auditorium August 29 for the Sophomore Orientation program.

63% of the sophomore girls and 59% of the boys purchased SAT's that helped to spur the Student Activity Ticket Contest.

"I was kind of scared to come to Lincoln but it was O.K. after a couple of days. The thing that scared me most were the cafeteria procedures," commented sophomore Laura Douglass.

Sophomore students (left) display their school spirit at pep assembly.

"The first time I walked through the front doors I was so scared I wanted to turn around and go back home, but I knew we couldn't."

"There are a lot of nice people at this school. I can tell by the way they smile and act towards their friends and others."

"When I came through all of my classes I found out something different, I think that maybe it will work out. (I hope so.)"

"I got lost several times."

"Inside it was different. People were standing around talking and laughing and the whole place seemed to have a cheery atmosphere."

"I knew for a fact that Lincoln was a number one school."

"I am kind of glad that I am going here."

"I went to the Girl's Club picnic which turned out to be a lot of confusion but interesting. Overall I'd say I felt very welcome."

"This year is easier for me than last year, because I know what to expect from the teachers in the way of tests," stated Peggy Shaw, junior.

A total of 765 juniors bought SAT's and came in a close second behind sophomores just missing them by three. Over 800 were enrolled at the beginning of the '74-'75 school year. Almost all the junior students were personally involved in some school activity, ranging from sports events to debating or from music groups to full spirit in pep assemblies.

Commented another junior, Mike Sedars, "In my opinion, Lincoln is the best high school in the state."

Slowly and cautiously I walk down the long aisle of time Advancing to the bright lights and sparkling future.
Closer and closer to freedom
I move.
Then memories of the past
begin to blur my mind.
Times of happiness and of sorrow
bring back the emotions of my youth.
The joys of soaping the fountain, teepeeing an enemy, and swingng
in the park must now be just memories.
As I received my key to the world with an encouraging handshake, I want to where I could Enjoy my fun, foolishness and the wishes of my heart.

Lonely Dream

A dream that I thought would never come true
a dream so dear to my heart.
Then one day
this dream that I speak of,
This dream that I'd wanted so long
It opened a door to a whole new world insisting we never part.
But I can't help but think that one of these days, the door to my dream will close
And there I will be,
lonely,
wondering why it was me?

Kimbo Minarel

"The class of '75 is a pretty good class although, this class seems to be more apathetic than others," commented senior adviser Robert Wilson

September united over 543 students at Lincoln High. Together they formed the Senior Class. Headed by Barry Lowe and Adviser Robert Wilson, the class built a successful senior float and sponsored other homecoming activities. After fall activities were behind them, the seniors set about planning a banquet, prom, Class Day, and commencement, June 1.

"This senior class had had many outstanding accomplishments, and I am real happy to graduate in it. I'm sure we'll all look back with fond memories of our years at Lincoln," commented senior Jill Sorenson.

Farewell

It is time to move on now
Make new friends and plant new roots.
You have all been good and close to me
You have made me smile, laugh and even cry
My friends the memories shall never die
Your lives have intertwined into mine,
Making me realize all the good and beautiful things around me
I am not leaving for good, just going away for a time,
I'll return someday, to my real and only home with you
You all have given me more than words
could ever express
I will not say goodbye, just farewell till the next hello
Don't forget the fun, the laughs, the sadness,
the joy, and the tears we shared
Let me stay in your heart forever as you will stay in mine,
My friends you'll always be a part of me,
for I shall not forget!

1636 Locust
Des Moines, Iowa

As a part of Younkers firm belief in the young people of today, a program is offered each year for the Des Moines area schools . . . TEEN BOARD for junior and senior girls, and ADVISORY BOARD for junior and senior boys. These young people, selected to represent their schools, are chosen for leadership qualities, high scholastic standings, personal recommendations from school administrators and evaluation from members of the retiring boards, plus their interest and ability in retail and fashion. They participate in special fashion shows during the year, give talks in their schools and to other groups on good grooming, publish a monthly newsletter and work in various junior departments each Saturday. Younkers salutes the representatives from LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL for a job well done.

Going away to college?

Go away to Drake.

That's right, Drake University! Come to Drake and live on campus. Think about the advantages . . . . on your own but close enough to home for "emergencies" like borrowing the car or replenishing the bank account at a moment's notice. Think about the advantage you have over the out-of-towners who don't know the ins-and-outs of your hometown.

Think about the educational advantages at Drake. A degree from Drake means a head-start on your career. Want proof? Right now, 94% of last year's graduates have a job in the field they chose.

There's a lot more happening between Forest and University than you realize. Stop by and let's talk about going away to Drake. If you're in a hurry, call us at 271-3181.
